This note is to commend the presentation of [redacted] at the 24 November COMIREX meeting and prior-related meetings concerning the timing of and the utilization of a specific source. These presentations reflect credit on [redacted] and on the members of his branch who supported the several presentations. The efforts have allowed COMIREX discussion to proceed on a rational basis with little emotional overtone and reach a position from which a decision can be recognized as a rational choice between valid but conflicting options.
